Competition Overview

Economics students from both schools are competing against each other, trying to create and execute the most successful business plan and raise the most money for childhood cancer research and support. All profits will fund clinical trials treatment and research at Connecticut Children's Medical Center and provide financial support for cancer patients and their families.

The criteria for success will be weighted with three factors: creativity, collaboration and actual revenue results.

Final Team Presentations with results will be April 20, 2017, at which time, winning businesses will be selected from each school as well as an overall winner.
